

Having performed a varied repertoire on Tim Farley's restored pianos and because of my experience as a certified Piano Technician, I can attest to the superior quality of the craftsmanship and artistry involved in his restorations; the tuning, the "voicing" and the action regulation. They were also beautifully finished instruments, the result of the total product is best expressed in the words of the poet John Keats: "A thing of beauty is a joy for ever."

And so it is with Farley's restored pianos,

Frank Glazer

Professor Emeritus of Piano
Eastern School of Music (1965-1980)
Artist-in-Residence and Lecturer in Music Bates College (1980-) January 25, 2014